LIBRARY FEST FEATURES GIVE AND TAKE JUGGLERS

The 9th Annual Library Fest was recently held at The Kenilworth Public Library to celebrate summer reading.

This open house event featured The Give and Take Jugglers, magician Mark Zacharia, and balloon sculptures created by Wings of Magic. These programs were funded by a Recycling grant given to the Borough of Kenilworth and by The Friends of the Kenilworth Public Library.

Tracy, the unofficial mascot of the Kenilworth Public Library, and Sparkee, the mascot of the Somerset Patriots visited the library during this event. Children also had an opportunity to enjoy story time presented by Miss Samantha. All children received a gift at the conclusion of this event.

To view additional photos from this event and previous events, please visit the library's Facebook page: facebook.com/kenilworth.public.library.

To learn about future programs to be held at The Kenilworth Public Library, please visit the library's website: kenilworthlibrary.org.

WHAT, WHERE AND WHEN IN OLD KENILWORTH - EARLY SCHOOL DAYS AND HARD TIMES

Submitted by Walter E. Boright, Ed. D.

The first schoolhouse in Kenilworth – then known as New Orange – almost didn't open during its first year of operation back in September 1900. The school was located near what is now 506 Boulevard. It was the former chapel for Upsala College which had moved from the Boulevard to its new campus at the top of the N. 21st St. hill.

Then, local students were under the jurisdiction of the Cranford Board of Education. In September 1900, a school board member visited the school and reported that he "found that the walls of the building had not been papered; that the cellar had not been cleaned out; that the out-houses had been left in a filthy condition; and that there were no desks." After a good deal of scurrying about, the school opened later that month. Heat came from a wood-burning stove and water was from a well. Some children came to school without shoes. Attendance was an issue.

Teacher Michael Hennessy received $500 annually, which was low even by 1900 standards.

He left in 1902 for a better paying position. John Howe, part-time janitor, earned $150 annually.

The youngest elementary pupils attended classes in the little school house. Older pupils walked to the old Grant School on Holly St., Cranford. In 1903, however, the school board hired W. E. Oakie to transport all teachers and students to and from New Orange and the Grant School for the total sum of a dollar per day. Oakie stipulated that teachers must not keep him waiting; if they did the carriage would make the trip without them and they would have to get to school (or home) as best they could. The then new McKinley School, torn down in 1964, opened in time for the 1902-1903 school year. Facility-wise, things improved.

Research provided by Walter E. Boright, Ed. D., historian, and Historic Signs, Inc., with appreciation to resident Robert Woods. Persons with inquiries about this or other aspects of Kenilworth history may contact Dr. Boright at drbori@aol.com or 908-256-5200.

The Kenilworth Public Library's 2018 Full Steam Ahead Maker Academy program recently concluded with a final program offering all the participants and family members an opportunity to view the Broadway play School of Rock at the Winter Garden Theater located in New York City.

Following the play, all children and teens returned to the library to receive their certificate of participation.

The library hosted a summer-long odyssey into the world of Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Math. The Kenilworth Maker Academy was funded by the generous support of the Ralph Errington Charitable Foundation.

Children and teens applied for entry into the Academy. Entrants were chosen by lottery and were admitted to a series of exciting and educational classes hosted by Wondergy, Mad Science of Union and Hudson Counties, and professional musician Caryn Lin. UNITY AWARD PRESENTED TO UNION COUNTY EMERGENCY RESPONSE TEAM

Fifteen individuals and seven organizations recently received the Union County Human Relations Commission's prestigious Unity Award for Achievement, an honor given to role models who dedicate their time and efforts to activities and programs that raise and honor the human spirit.

The 2018 awards marked the 17th year in which the Commission has named honorees.

The Union County Emergency Response Team (UCERT)/ USAI NJ PRIDE was honored for aid deployment to Puerto Rico.

Below is preprinted from the event's program.

The team included UCERT/SWAT/USAI Commander Martin Mogensen; Patrolman Alexander Ruiz, Clark Police Department; Officer Elliot Bernard, Fanwood Police Department; Patrolman Sean Kaverik, Kenilworth Police Department; Detective Edward Nortrup, Roselle Park Police Department; Officer Dragan Ristovski, Township of Union Police Department; Detective Daniel Fay, Union County Prosecutor's Office; Officer Sean Holcomb, Union County Prosecutor's Office; Lieutenant James Guerrant, Union County Sheriff's Office; Sergeant Manuel Cruz, Union County Sheriff's Office.

This Unity Award was given in recognition for emergency response to help residents of Puerto Rico by assisting local law enforcement in the wake of hurricane devastation.

On Wednesday, September 6, 2017, Hurricane Irma - a Category 5 storm with 175 mph winds - carved a merciless path of destruction through the Caribbean, killing at least 44 people, leaving thousands of others homeless, and plunging more than 1 million residents of Puerto Rico into darkness.

Two weeks later, on Wednesday, September 20, 2017, Hurricane Maria - which, despite weakening to a Category 4 hurricane by the time it struck Puerto Rico - devastated the island, decimated buildings, crippled communication, drenched it with intense flooding, and left hundreds of recipients dead or missing. Its previously damaged electrical grid was also compromised.

The Catastrophic damage, coupled with the devastation of other islands in the area, compounded relief efforts. Maria was the tenth-most intense Atlantic hurricane, and the worst natural disaster on record in Puerto Rico. For weeks, in MARIA's wake, most of the island's population suffered from flooding and lack of resources, compounded by the slow relief process.

Union County stepped up to help. Nine Union County law enforcement officers who are members of the Union County Emergency Response Team (UCERT) traveled to Puerto Rico in the wake of the hurricane to help keep law and order there.

The officers, under the command of Union County Police Department Captain Martin Mogensen, who commands UCERT, Union County's SWAT team, and the Federal Urban Area Security Initiative (UASI), went in two deployments in October and November 2017 to provide relief. Coordinating with the New Jersey State Police, Puerto Rican State Police, and San Juan Police, they provided community outreach assistance, infrastructure protection, and traffic control points.

The Union County officers relieved local officers who had been working long shifts daily and wearing regular clothes because they couldn't wash their uniforms. Their radios didn't work either. They communicated by waving each other down, or by cell phones when they were able.

Two months after the storm, the officers had to struggle on a daily basis for the necessities: food, water, fuel for their generators.

The officers agreed that the images seen on TV and online do not capture the enormity of the damage: Roads with giant fissures, downed utility poles, epic food and water shortages, no traffic lights, gridlock, cars disabled or stuck sitting on the side of seven-lane highways, and lack of power. Crime and violence were also a dangerous byproduct of the hurricane aftermath. Day-to-day life was exhausting.

We salute the members of the UCERT team who put their comfortable lives here at home on hold while they reached out to help fellow officers and the residents of Puerto Rico in the aftermath of the tragedy.
