GARWOOD ANNOUNCES LAUNCH OF SMALL BUSINESS ADVISORY BOARD

The new board will provide resources to businesses to help them thrive

The Borough of Garwood recently announced the launch of a new Small Business Advisory Board, a group tasked with fostering a healthy and vibrant business community by ensuring that small businesses with fewer than 35 employees have access to the tools and resources they need to thrive.

"The small businesses that call Garwood home are important to our community and are invested in our future," said Garwood Mayor Sara Todisco. "By creating the Small Business Advisory Board, Garwood's diverse and innovative small business will have a new source of support. When our small businesses are strong, Garwood is strong."

Many of the small businesses in Garwood are owned by and employ residents who live in the Borough. The Small Business Advisory Board will create Borough-wide strategies that promote Garwood's small businesses' interests and provide programmatic support, such as consulting, to help small businesses remain competitive and grow.

The Small Business Advisory Board will be composed of borough leaders and business owners from across sectors and industries appointed by Mayor Todisco. The Small Business Advisory Board plans to convene quarterly, with additional meetings as necessary.

Local business owner Joshua Rosenberg said, "We are very excited about the possibility of being able to share our experience, expertise, and knowledge with those in the community who need it. I'm thankful for the Mayor's and Council's support."

Local small business owners interested in becoming a member of the board can submit their contact information and resume to smallbusiness@garwood.org.

GARWOOD TOWN-WIDE YARD SALE

The Borough of Garwood will hold a town-wide yard sale on Saturday, June 12 and Sunday, June 13 from 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m., rain or shine.

To participate email Kathleen@garwood.org or call 908-789-0710 to register. There is no fee required to register.

Registration must be received by 12:00 noon on Thursday, June 10 to participate in the yard sale.

For shoppers, a list of participating households will be available at Borough Hall, 403 South Avenue and at Garwood.org under Public Notices.

HEARING LOSS CAN SNEAK UP ON YOU

Do you constantly turn up the volume on your tv, have a hard time hearing in crowded places, or ask "what did you say" a little too much?

You're not alone. Approximately 37.5 million American adults report some trouble hearing, according to the National Institutes of Health. Take our online quiz at JFKAudiology.org to see if you could benefit from a comprehensive hearing evaluation.

Turn up the volume on your life. Call JFK's Center for Audiology at 732-321-7063 for more information.

LINCOLN SCHOOL'S STUDENT COUNCIL

Submitted by Tamara Benc
Student Council members at Lincoln School have been quite busy. Aside from meeting virtually every week, the students helped plan the district's most recent Spirit Week. In addition, they organized a Kindness Rocks community project. At an outdoor meeting, members painted rocks then wrote thoughtful and kind messages on each one. Once the rocks were coated with a weather-proof sealant, the students took their rocks and deposited them in areas around town where pedestrians and shoppers might notice their positive messages and reflect upon them. Mrs. Benc is the advisor of the group.

8TH GRADERS STUDY LIGHT WAVES

Submitted by Kathryn Bree

Mrs. Bree's 8th grade students in Garwood Lincoln School are studying light waves and how they reflect, refract, diffuse and are absorbed. In a hands-on lab experience, students used sunlight and flashlights with prisms, lenses, filters, mirrors, and more to determine how light waves interact with the different medium. Mrs. Bree calls it "rainbow days" and students followed in Newton's footsteps to direct light in a multitude of ways.

PREMED STUDENTS COMPLETE CANCER PROJECT

Submitted by Christine Casale Broski

Students in Mrs. Bernadette Jacobi's PreMedical Studies class at Arthur L. Johnson High School recently completed an Immunotherapy Patient Cancer Research Project. Students were asked to put their scrubs on and assume the role of a doctor who is meeting with a patient just diagnosed with cancer.

The students had to research the selected form of cancer the patient had, the options for cancer treatment, focusing on immunotherapy, and how to address the patient and answer any patient questions. Students also had to determine which immunotherapy treatment would be most effective and whether they wanted to combine it with traditional treatment. In class, student doctors met with their patients, role played by their peers. The students reviewed their patient's history, took their patient's vitals, diagnosed the patient, provided a treatment plan, addressed patient concerns, and gave a prognosis. Additionally, students had to present a reflection on what they took away from the experience and why they chose this type of cancer.

Ms. Jacobi stated, "This immunotherapy project is a very powerful tool that completely engages my students in their quest for knowledge and a better understanding of a person living with cancer. It is not your typical research project. The students created their fictitious patient and stood by their sides, holding their hands, through good news and bad, with each step along the way of their disease, from chief complaint through diagnosis, treatment and final prognosis."

Jacobi continued, "I am just so proud of the work my students did, in how they established a relationship with their patients and earned their trust. They learned a very valuable life lesson, in treating the whole patient as a valued person, and not just the disease they presented with. The personal statements my students made after their presentations were just so powerful, with many of them choosing a particular type of cancer that they wanted to know more about because of a personal experience. Words can't describe enough, how proud I am of their work, and how incredibly amazing my students are."
