2022 CHRISTMAS PARADE AND TREE LIGHTING

The 43rd Annual Borough of Madison Christmas Committee Parade was held on Friday, November 25th, 2022, on Waverly Place. Each year throngs of people gather on the route down Main Street to enjoy the parade and tree lighting, sponsored by the all-volunteer Madison Christmas Committee. Showcasing close to 70 floats and parade groups from Madison and surrounding municipalities, this parade draws in a crowd of close to 15,000 spectators as Madison kicks off the holiday season. Immediately following the parade is the lighting of the tree on Waverly Place.

This year's parade was held both in-person, and live streamed for those to enjoy from the comfort of their own home. The full HD recording of the parade and tree lighting can be viewed by visiting the The Borough of Madison New Jersey YouTube channel: youtu.be/eYzLAZGPNpY

This year's tree, which has been grown at the Toto's household for 51 years, was graciously donated by Marie Toto and family, in memory of their late husband and father, Carmine Toto. The Madison Electric Department and Coviello Brothers cut down, transported and put up the tree.

ALL I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS IS MY TWO FRONT TEETH

If you got them, keep them! The Madison Volunteer Ambulance Corps does not want anyone's two front teeth. What we wanted for Christmas is people; people who are willing to go the extra mile for their community. What does it take? A commitment to give a number of hours each month and a willingness to take the courses that will equip you with the skills needed to help people struggling with health issues.

What is the payoff? An opportunity to serve your community in a noble cause. In the long run, you will come away knowing that you have made a positive difference in the lives of those in need. Is all this easy? No, but the rewards are more than enough to offset the effort. Ask yourself this; If not me, then who?

Keep those two front teeth but please visit one of the following if you are up to the challenge: Facebook @madisonambulance, Instagram @madisonems or call 973-377-0029.

FAITH LUTHERAN PROVIDES GIFTS TO PERSONS IN NEED

Following its annual tradition, Faith Lutheran Church in New Providence, through its Christmas Sharing Tree, has contributed gifts to persons served by social service agencies in the community and St. Stephan's Grace Community Church in Newark. Each of the recipients was given a choice between two gifts of warmth, a hooded sweatshirt and a plush throw blanket.

Organizations to whom Faith donated were the following: The ARC of Union County, which provides resources to persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families to ensure that the persons realize full and productive lives, the Possum Way Group Home in New Providence is part of ARC; Cheshire Home, which provides residential specialized care facilities for disabled adults; New Providence Community Service Association, which offers financial assistance to New Providence citizens in their time of need; and St. Stephan's Grace Community Church, which is a diverse and multicultural Lutheran church in the Ironbound Section of Newark. For many years, members of Faith have tutored children there. The children will be receiving the gifts.

Joanne and Ed Berryman of Madison chair and manage this ministry for Faith Lutheran. Kim Delatour of Berkeley Heights helped with the St. Stephan's portion.

The pastor of Faith is Rev. Jane McCready. Faith is located at 524 South Street. Its website is famfaith.org and its phone number is 908-464-5177.

WINTER "MINICOURSES" RETURN IN-PERSON

Registration opens Wednesday, January 4, for two in-person "minicourse" offerings through the Madison Public Library.

The courses, which will cover topics relating to women artists in Europe and opera in the Romantic era, are sponsored by the nonprofit Friends of the Madison Public Library.

One minicourse, titled "Women Artists in Europe from the Renaissance to World War II," will begin on Monday, January 23, and run for five consecutive Mondays in January and February from 1:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. Dr. Kimberly Rhodes, NEH Distinguished Teaching Professor in the Humanities and Professor of Art History at Drew University, will lead the sessions.

This course provides a survey of women artists working in Europe from the Renaissance to the Second World War. The course will review women who were trained as artists, how they navigated their professional identities, and how European nations differed in their approach to including women in the art world. It will also focus on how societal attitudes towards women in the eras influenced the reception of works by women artists. Sofonisba Anguissola, Artemisia Gentileschi, Angelica Kauffman, Rosa Bonheur, Harriet Hosmer, Mary Cassatt, and Vanessa Bell are among the artists to be studied.

A second minicourse, titled "Barber to Boheme: Opera in the Romantic Era," will begin on Tuesday, January 24, and run for five consecutive Tuesdays in January and February from 1:30 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. Dr. Robert Butts, Director of the Baroque Orchestra of NJ and a lecturer at Montclair State University, the Caspersen School of Graduate Studies at Drew, the NJ Council for the Humanities, and St. Elizabeth University, will present these sessions.

Many of the most popular and influential operas were composed during music's Romantic Era (1800-1920). The works of Rossini, Donizetti, Verdi, Bizet, Wagner, Puccini, and others remain favorites of audiences and artists, at the same time continuing to influence composers in the 21st century. While opera was entertainment during the period, it also reflected on social changes as well as new ideas ranging from fantasy to realism, from history to legend, and from past to present. Explore the operas that continue to be performed and enjoyed around the world.

Interested students can find registration information at minicoursesmadisonlibrary.org. The tuition for each course is $95. No refunds or credits will be given once the course begins. These courses are organized by the Friends of the Madison Public Library, a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization. All proceeds benefit the Madison Public Library.

These virtual non-credit courses are open to the public with no prerequisites or examinations. For more information, please visit the website minicoursesmadisonlibrary.org or email minicoursesmadisonlibrary@gmail.com.

Monthly, Madison Rotarians partnered with Healthy Italia, an innovative cooking school on Main Street in Madison, making 64 quarts of fresh nurturing and nourishing soups to donate to area charities in need. Thus far, a total, 320 quarts of soup were given to JBWS to benefit the survivors of domestic violence; Homeless Solutions for people transitioning into housing; and the Madison Food Pantry at the Madison Baptist Church. Diane Williams, President and CEO of JBWS, spoke to Madison Rotarians during the event about how her organization gives safety, support and solutions for all domestic abuse victims and provides education to the public for the prevention of domestic violence. “Community support is crucial for the survivors on their road to recovery,” remarked Williams. “Ladles of Love fits perfectly with the Madison Rotary’s mission to help alleviate food insecurity in our community, to empower youth, and to partner with other local organizations to enrich the Madison community and beyond,” said Madison Rotary President Doug Willis.
