FAMILY ROCKING CHAIR OF THREE GENERATIONS RESTORED

In the quiet corners of SAGE's furniture restoration workshop, a silent witness to the passage of time awaited its resurrection - a rocking chair with a storied past. Rose Shuhala, aunt to Cathy Vander Meulen of Madison, held memories of those rocking days back in 1938 when she was just a 10-year-old. The chair, perhaps once adorned in vibrant red or subtle brown stain, now stood in a state of disarray, a testament to the wear and tear of decades.

Cathy, the curious custodian of this familial relic, pondered its origins. Was it tucked away in her mom's basement, or did it find refuge when the original Newark house changed hands in 1985? The chair, a puzzle of dismantled parts, lacked even a seat, echoing the void left by the passage of time. Rose, the last surviving sibling of eight in a family of Ukrainian immigrant parents, recounted the chair's presence on the porch of their humble abode. Two such chairs existed, but the fate of the other had faded into the recesses of forgetfulness.

As the family grew and evolved, the rocking chair bore witness to countless stories. In the transformed two-family house, where siblings sought stability and shared living spaces, the chair was a constant. Now, at the hands of the skilled artisans at SAGE, this humble piece of furniture underwent a meticulous resurrection. Restored, the rocking chair bridged the generational gap, becoming a tangible link to the struggles and triumphs of the family, a timeless seat echoing with the whispers of familial bonds.

"I want to thank everyone who worked on my grandmother's rocking chair that sat for years on her front porch. I've had it in storage for 35+ years, unassembled with no seat. You brought the chair back to life!" said Cathy Vander Meulen of Madison. She continued "When my 95-year-old aunt came over on Thanksgiving she spotted it immediately and said, "that's Baba's (her mother) chair!" She couldn't believe she was seeing it again after all this time."

The Workshop is located in the basement of the SAGE building at 290 Broad Street, Summit and is easily assessable. For more information about the service or to schedule an appointment to bring in furniture, call 908-598-5531.

OLD GUARD APRIL SPEAKERS PROGRAM

MADISON THRIFT SHOP APRIL SALES

The Madison Independent Thrift Shop is preparing for sales for April; included will be glass items, coats, and jackets.

The Thrift Shop, located at 39 Kings Road, is open Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m., and Saturday from 10:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m. A nonprofit group, it is operated entirely by volunteers. Proceeds received from sales during 2023 were recently distributed to charitable groups in Madison and surrounding communities.

We are looking for Community minded volunteers to help staff the store. Anyone wanting further information or may be interested in becoming a volunteer is encouraged to drop by the shop, or call 973-377-2450 during business hours listed above.

The Summit Area Old Guard is a social, educational, and recreational organization that serves men of retirement age. We meet most Tuesdays at the New Providence Presbyterian Church located at 1307 Springfield Ave. Our dues are minimal, and members manage all aspects of the operation. Our motto is "Come for the Programs. Stay for the Friends." The organization was founded in 1930.

We will have five programs in April:

Our speaker on April 2nd will be Laura Ekstrand, founder, and artistic director of the Vivid Stage Company. Vivid Stage Company (formerly called Dreamcatchers) is a professional ensemble of actors. Ms. Ekstrand will discuss the Company and describe how it operates. The program will include background of the artists, discuss how various plays are chosen and the processes employed to create a production. The Company is located at the Oakes Center, 120 Morris Ave., Summit, NJ.

On April 9th we will offer something a little different, a presentation and concert by the musical troupe, The Larks, under the direction of Joanne Taubner Prussak, music director (who also plays accompanying piano). The Larks have been entertaining in and around the Summit area for about fifty years. We will learn how they organize and prepare for their shows, perhaps a little feedback on the Old Guard singing endeavors, and a few words about their parent organization, the Summit Junior League.

On April 16th we will be discussing saving and restoring old furniture. Our speaker will be Bob McAnally, Furniture Workshop Manager of the S.A.G.E. Restoration Workshop. SAGE Eldercare, an all-round senior daycare center in Summit, has a volunteer group which repairs furniture for an extremely low price. We will learn what goes on behind the scenes at this iconic Summit institution.

Donna Goggin Patel will be our speaker on April 23rd. Donna serves as Chair of the Summit Environmental Commission. She will tell us about something amazing, Summit's tiny forest. It is possible to grow a full micro-forest on as little as an acre in a few decades. Summit has such a forest. It was planted behind the Community Center several years ago and is thriving. We will learn about the importance of native species and how dense pocket reforestation can help mitigate climate. Donna can also discuss the latest sustainability efforts in Summit and other planned and ongoing environmental efforts.

Finally, on April 30th our own David Dietze, Managing Principal, Senior Portfolio Strategist at Peapack Private Wealth Management, will present. David will discuss current trends and thinking regarding inflation, economic growth, political initiatives, the federal reserve, etc., and how all these factors combine to influence the stock market. He will talk about valuation and where there is both risk and reward in equities.

MADISON'S FAMED LINCOLN PORTRAIT LECTURE

Madison Historical Society

Although Abraham Lincoln was not 9 feet tall, his portrait in Madison's council chamber was. When President George H. W. Bush visited Madison in 1992, he was shown the Lincoln portrait, and quipped, "I have one of those where I live too." Join us when Mallory Mortillaro, art historian and curator of collections for the Hartley Dodge Foundation, tells us about this famed and unique portrait, its history, how it got to Madison and where it is now.

Mallory Mortillaro is nationally known for her rediscovery of the Rodin bust of Napoleon, hiding in plain sight in the Hartley Dodge Memorial Building. She has worked on various research projects for museums and organizations in the NY metropolitan area. With undergraduate and graduate degrees from Drew University, she is also a 6th grade language teacher in Summit.

This program is free and open to the public. Email the Madison Historical Society at: historyspeakerseries@gmail.com for registration, no later than 2 p.m. on Tuesday, April 16 in order to receive the link to join the Zoom presentation. Links will start being sent the day before the presentation.

From Mickey Mouse to Star Wars and Beyond: How Disney Conquered Entertainment

Tuesday, April 23rd @7pm

Over the last nine decades, the Walt Disney Company has transformed every facet of the entertainment business - from the creation of feature length cartoons to television programming like The Wonderful World of Disney, from theme parks that span the globe to Broadway musicals like The Lion King, from challenging Netflix with their new streaming service Disney+, to ownership of the greatest collection of franchise movies (from Stars Wars to Toy Story to The Avengers) under the control of a single studio in Hollywood history. Brian Rose will lead this talk and examine this remarkable story of creativity and media growth and looks at how the Walt Disney Company grew from a small cartoon studio in 1923 to become the most powerful force in worldwide entertainment.

The Queen of Comedy: Lucille Ball

Wednesday, April 24th @7pm

Performing arts professional Marc Courtade will help us celebrate the life and career of Lucille Ball. She rose from humble origins to become one of the most powerful women in Hollywood and the first woman to run a major studio. She also entertained us and remains one of the best comediennes ever seen. Moderately successful in "B" movies, it was television that solidified her career. I Love Lucy has virtually never been off the air since it began in 1951. The show established her as a major television star, but also set the model for the situation comedy. Three more series followed, and Lucy kept doing what she did best, making people laugh.
