The tents are going up for the 76th Somerset County 4-H Fair, August 7-9, at North Branch Park in Bridgewater. The fair features 15 acres of exhibits, animals, activities and entertainment from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. Admission and parking are free.

The Fair is the highlight of the year for almost 1,000 4-H club members. Through exhibits and competitions, fairgoers can connect with the county's agricultural heritage or glimpse the technology of the future thanks to the broad spectrum of 4-H projects. Livestock, poultry, robotics, model trains, beekeeping, and Seeing Eye puppies are just a few of the project areas that will be at the Fair.

A Somerset County Government tent will have displays and information on county services. Also participating is the Park Commission and many community groups. And, be sure to bring your appetite. The 4-H Fair's legendary Food Tent offers a wide selection of your favorite summertime treats.

4-H is the nation's oldest and largest youth organization. Offered in New Jersey through Rutgers Cooperative Extension, 4-H empowers young people with the skills that they need to succeed in life. Children from kindergarten to grade 3 may join a prep program. Club members in grades 4 to one year out of high school complete hands-on projects in areas such as science, health, agriculture, civic engagement and the arts. You can see 4-H in action by visiting the Fair.

The mission of the Somerset County 4-H Association is to support the 4-H Youth Development Program of Somerset County. COUNTY RESIDENTS GRADUATE FROM CERT BASIC TRAINING PROGRAM

Somerset County's Office of Emergency Management graduated 10 residents from their Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) Basic Training Program. The residents volunteered 30 hours in June to learn about supporting their local communities and first-responders when emergencies and disasters strike.

"CERT teams play a crucial role in mitigating disasters and managing emergencies in Somerset County," said Commissioner Doug Singleterry, liaison to the Office of Emergency Management. "Each volunteer is a tremendous resource to first responders, their respective communities, and for the people of Somerset County."

This year's Spring CERT class included residents from Somerville, Somerset, Branchburg, Basking Ridge, Bridgewater, Bernardsville, and Watchung.

Volunteers trained at the Emergency Services Training Academy in Hillsborough and learned about Disaster Preparedness, CERT Organization, Light Search and Rescue, Disaster Psychology, Terrorism, Fire Safety, Medical Operations, Sheltering Operations, and Stop the Bleed. Following their extensive training, each participant is required to complete a written exam and practical exercise to officially graduate.

Local CERT programs help to train and organize teams of volunteers to assist their families, neighbors, co-workers, and other community members during emergencies when professional responders may not be immediately available.

Before, during, and after disasters, CERT volunteer teams perform basic response activities, including checking in on neighbors, distribution of information to the public, supporting emergency operations centers, and helping to manage traffic and crowds.

The deployment of CERT volunteers to perform these activities enables professional responders to focus efforts on more complex, essential, and often life-saving tasks. CERT volunteers also support their communities by organizing, promoting, and participating in emergency preparedness events, activities, and projects.

For more information regarding the CERT program, please utilize the following link: co.somerset.nj.us/government/public-health-safety/emergency-management/cert-volunteers

MILITARY FAMILIES SACRIFICE TOO

Michael D Boll, NJVN President

For the last few years, the New Jersey Veterans Network (NJVN) has been helping veterans with resources and assistance with their mental health conditions. Over time we came to realize that the veteran's family was being affected by their struggles as well. Our team had to learn how to include their family members in our outreach efforts. We lose 22 veterans each day to suicide, and they leave behind grieving families. Recently, we decided to make sure all veteran family members can use the same resources that our team has available for veterans. Sometimes we forget about the sacrifices our veteran families have to make and this country should appreciate them for this.

One thing our team decided to do was to have Gold Star families meet disabled veterans at our events, so they can work together and form a bond. This effort was extremely affective and immediately brought joy to both the Gold Star families and to the disabled veterans. By adding veteran family members to the team, it allows us to work together on our peer support and recreational therapy programs. We are honored to have veteran family members to work alongside us and know they are just as committed with helping our veterans live a better way of life.

If you need assistance, or would like to join the team as a volunteer, please send us your name, email, and phone number to NJVN1775@gmail.com.

RETIRED WHRHS NURSE WORKS TO HELP HAITIAN ORPHANS

Global Health Share

Global Health Share is a non-profit which since 2019 has been dedicated to supporting an orphanage as well as education programs and marketable skills training for children and families in Haiti. The 501c3 charity recently held its second annual Caribbean fundraiser at the Country Lakes firehouse in Browns Mills, NJ. One of its founders is Nan Masterson, who was formally the head school nurse at Watchung Hills Regional High School from 2000 through 2015.

Global Health Share provides funding for food, free elementary and secondary education programs, daily after school help, basic healthcare when funds are available, and marketing skills training to poor families in the communities that they serve. The country of Haiti does not provide free education to children, so if parents are unable to pay for tuition, uniforms, and supplies (which cost about $400 to $500 per student per year), the children cannot attend school.

“Since Haiti became an independent country in 1804, they have endured major political and environmental challenges. Two years ago, the President of Haiti was murdered, and gangs took over Port au Prince, the capital city of Haiti. Recent news reports refer to Port au Prince as the most dangerous city in the world. The children and programs that Global Health Share supports are located far enough away from Port au Prince to be out of harm’s way, and the education programs can continue most days. The biggest issue now is access to food and clean water due to the fact that the gangs have closed ports that receive imports of food, and food is scarce. The cost of food has escalated, and Global Health Share, with generous donations has been addressing these needs” said the organization’s founder, and President, Nan Masterson.

While working at WHRHS, Nan Masterson addressed the healthcare needs of students, and states that she loved every minute of it. In 2016 she retired from Watchung Hills. After “retirement” she volunteered on two Chamberlain University clinical immersion trips for nursing students to Kenya. After the second trip she was asked to join their global health education program faculty. Over the next few years, she took students to India, Brazil, and Haiti. She began the non-profit in Haiti after a trip to the country in 2018 while training nursing students in community health.

“There was devastation in every country that I did clinical immersions in with students, however, nothing affected me so deeply as the conditions that the children were living in at an orphanage where we did health assessments in Haiti. It changed my heart forever, and knew I had to do something,” she said.

Since Masterson and her students’ initial purchase of one month’s supply of food for the children at the orphanage, Global Health Share has grown to support two school programs in Leogane and Gressier providing funds for food, uniforms, teacher salaries, structural building repairs, and much-needed supplies, as well as weekend skills-based training workshops. Baking, sewing, computer literacy, and English language instruction have been taught to help the families develop marketable skills for earning a living.

The Caribbean Fundraiser featured regional food, live steel drum music, hula hoop fun, a Caribbean trivia contest, drum circle conga line, basket auction, and 50/50 drawing. During the event Masterson recognized planning committee members Mark and Elisabeth McCartney for their support.
